Save A Life -- Give Blood

One pint of blood will go a long way in saving a life in Hancock County or on the battlefields of Korea.

Many of our residents know the life-saving value of blood during illnesses, at the time of accidents and on the battlefields; particularly those men from Hancock County who were wounded during World War II or the present conflict.

During the month of December, the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross held a blood bank, after voting to participate in the National Blood Program. Once again, citizens of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County will be called upon March 17 to give a pint of blood when the second bank is held at the Youth Center.

Blood donated at this time will be used in the King's Daughters Hospital and will be available, when applied for, for County patients in other hospitals, to help save the lives of our friends and neighbors. Multiply the benefits we receive by all the other communities in the country participating in this worth-while national program, and we see a potential force which can reach into every American home alleviating suffering and saving lives.

This blood, which can be secured without charge, other than those made by the doctor and hospital administering it, can be used miraculously to save lives of our loved ones who meet with accidents or need blood as a result of a serious operation or illness.

Most of the blood secured during the last bank has been used in Hancock County; but it is essential, if this program is to be carried through to a successful end, that healthy men and women between the ages of 18 and 60 support the project continuously.

Stop and think that your donation, not in dollars and cents, but in time and thoughtfulness, will give life; then, phone the office of the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross and make an appointment to give a life-saving pint of blood Monday, March 17.

The purpose of the conference was to discuss problems occurring in programs of work, make plans for future work, and to examine adult resource materials which were on display.

Another conference was set for all day April 26 on the campus at Mississippi Southern. The purpose is to continue study, secure information and exchange suggestion for future programs of work.

BROWNIE SCOUTS

The Homemaking Department was the scene of a Brownie Scout party Friday night. The Brownie Scouts, with the aid of Mrs. Erwin, planned, baked the cookies, prepared the table and room. Plans were made before hand as to who would be the maids, hostesses and cooks. The guests were the Brownie's parents.

The cooks made the punch, and baked the refrigerator cookies which were previously made by the Homemaking classes. The hostesses had as their job to see that all the guests were introduced, and coats and wraps were taken care of. They also served the refreshments. The maids had as their job the "clean up" after which everything was left in order.

The Brownie leaders and assistants who were present and assisted the Brownies in carrying out their plans were Mrs. Morrill, Mrs. Tonkel, Mrs. Kramer.

County Agent's Notes

Cull Flocks Now Do Not Delay

By HOWARD SIMMONS

Don't Feed a Loser. When a hen goes out of production, put her in the cull coop. There is no culling season so don't wait for spring, summer or fall, cull out those non-producers every day.

What to Cull. Keep only those hens that have bright red combs and wattles and that are alert and active. When you go in the laying house, look over the flock. The heads will tell the story.

If the comb is pale, dry and shrunken, if the wattles have lost their warmth and luster, if the eyes are dull and lifeless, check further, the hen may be out of production.

If the hen is laying, she will have a large, moist bleached vent, then, pliable pelvis, bones wide apart and a lot of width between pelvis and keel bones.

TOMATO PLANTS

Inspection. Farmers interested in selling tomato plants are reminded that the deadline for making application for having plants inspected and certified for sale is March 15th.

The state law requires that all plants sold in the state be inspected and certified. There is no charge for these inspections. However, permits allowing the sale of plants cost 50 cents per 100. These permits must be attached to each container or package of plants shipped via any transportation agency, and attached to any plants offered for sale in stores.

Lay-by Time. Now that March is here, it's time to lay-by the timber and start working the other part of the farm.

Brush burning. Is burning necessary? No one has proved that fire destroys more insects than birds destroy. The song of birds is much more attractive than burned fence corners and fields. Too, quail were scarce last year and if all the cover is burned, they will be more scarce this year.

Use Care if Burning is to be Done. You cannot depend on a fire to stay put. Be sure to have adequate fire lanes around areas to be burned. Have men and tools available to help you control the fire. Notify your nearest fire crew of your intention to burn. If the fire gets out of control, ask them for help.

Insect Damage. For the past few years the southern pine beetle has made severe attacks on pine. Watch your trees, this is the season when beetles take up where they left off last fall. If a tree begins to turn pale yellow or brown, check closely.

Kill. Southern pine beetles can kill trees. Even attacked doesn't die. Heavy pitch deposits outside the entrance hole indicate that the tree is drowning the beetle with resin.

However, pitch deposits accompanied by sawdust below the hole, indicate that the tree may be fighting a losing battle. Sawdust, without pitch means that the tree has lost.

Control. Around a house or in a lot where the loss of a few pines could be serious, chlordane will control the beetles. In the woods, infested trees should be cut and saved immediately. The slabs, limbs and stumps should be burned to kill the beetles just below the bark.

FORAGE POINTERS

March is the time to top dress oats, rye or wheat. Use 40 pounds of nitrogen to the acre. Sow lespedeza in oats or wheat, or on Johnson grass. March is the time to plant lespedeza and dallis grass. Help grass compete with clover and keep down bloat by nitrating grass and clover combinations.

Do not overgraze or bog newly planted fescue. Keep fire out of your pastures or young lespedeza and clover will be killed. Hogs root spring pastures badly. Keep them from rooting up and ruining your pastures.

O P S NEWS

ROBERT W. MAY SUCCEEDS TERRY AS OPS DIRECTOR

Robert W. May of Brandon has been appointed District Director of the Jackson office of Price Stabilization to succeed Thomas B. Terry, according to an announcement by Regional Director George D. Patterson, Jr. in Atlanta today.

Mr. May, State Treasurer for the past four years, on Monday takes over the position vacated by Mr. Terry. Mr. Terry resigned in order to return to his home at Laurel and look after pressing personal business affairs. The Jackson OPS serves the whole state of Mississippi - there are no other offices in the state.

The new District Director, a native of Brandon, is a son of the late Lewis S. May, Sr., who formerly served as State Treasurer for two terms. He is a partner in the May Motor Company at Brandon and is also interested in the cattle raising business.

During World War II, Mr. May served with the Third Army in the European Theatre. He was attached to Army Headquarters and after four years service retired from active duty with the rank of Captain. He attended Mississippi State College from 1928 to 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. May, the former Anna Rodgers, reside at Brandon where they are active members of the Methodist church and participate in other local organizations.

Many new and used car dealers in Mississippi will be checked by enforcement investigators as part of a current nationwide compliance survey of passenger vehicle retailers, Robert W. May, District Director of the Office of Price Stabilization in Jackson announced.

"Every effort will continue to be made to bring car dealers into compliance without court actions," Mr. May said, "but where dealers persist in willful or irresponsible disregard to OPS regulations, civil or possibly criminal actions will be brought."

The District Director pointed out the new car regulation specifically requires that all retailers conspicuously display their ceiling prices by make and body style in each line or series and itemize as to the amount of taxes, handling charges, transportation costs and other allowable charges that make up the total delivered ceiling price.

Used car dealers must tag or label each car offered for sale with the make, model, line or series and ceiling price, including any extra, special or optional equipment on the car.

Both used and new car dealers are required to furnish each purchaser with a duplicate invoice within seven days after the sale containing certain information required in the ceiling price regulations covering the sale.

TEXTILE LABOR COSTS

Primary cotton textile manufacturers have been provided with a complete list of fringe labor costs which may be figured in with direct labor costs in computing their ceiling prices.

The fringe labor costs are: employee health, welfare and insurance plans; pension contributions for current work; paid vacations and paid holidays; and, benefits including payments required under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act, the Federal Unemployment Tax Act and any state or local employment or compensation laws.

The clarifying action took place in Amendment 4 to Ceiling Price 37, and is not expected to have any effect on the level of ceiling prices for cotton textiles. OPS said, because most manufacturers of these products have already figured these fringe labor costs in their ceilings.

POTATO ADJUSTMENTS

Retail ceiling prices of old Irish potatoes, other than seed stock, in the Southeast may rise slightly as a result of a "disaster adjustment" granted by the Office of Price Stabilization in ceiling prices for winter storage white potatoes grown in five Western States.

The across-the-board adjustment of 60 cents a hundred pounds for Montana potatoes and 20 cents a hundred for potatoes grown in Idaho, Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska will make it possible, OPS said, for producers in those states to recoup some of the losses they otherwise would have sustained because of abnormally low quantity and quality of yield. The adjustment will allow them higher prices for short supplies of better grade potatoes as well as for potatoes of lower quality.

The action, taken in Amendment 3, Revision 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 113, is expected to be passed on to consumers in the form of an increase of about one cent per pound, or four cents per five-pound lot.

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER by W. F. Bond, Commissioner State Department Public Welfare

What can be done by a family group working together is well illustrated by the following incident that happened in a Mississippi county a few weeks ago.

Five persons, nephews and nieces of a fine old gentleman, finding out that the uncle was about to make application for old age assistance to the county welfare agent, gave him a surprise party and told him that he need not do so for they were going to give him $12.50 apiece every month so long as he lived. These relatives will be happier because of doing this, the uncle will feel more secure and happier because this shows that he has the love and confidence of his family members of his family who, under the law, are not financially responsible for helping him. We come in contact with many splendid old people whose heads are heavy because they seemingly have been forgotten by those who should love them most, their own children.

David and Goliath

According to scripture, Goliath, heavyweight champion of the Philistines, spread fear into Israel's hosts. David, however, armed only with a stone and a sling-shot, put the giant out of business.

Though we no longer believe in giants, the invisible giant of doubt is with us. Strange as it may seem living in what we think is our most enlightened age, we are cursed with confusions and apprehensions.

We fear inflation and deflation, Communists or atomic attack. We must be scared of one bugaboo or another to keep us conditioned for controls, in a receptive mood for regimentations. And while crisis passes into crisis and one emergency fades into another, we are kept in a constant state of bewilderment. It's the first time in the history of this mighty Republic that her proud sons ever fell for fear.

Have we lost confidence in our leadership and in ourselves, do we prefer to live in a world of make-believe inhabited by hobgoblins, or are we just unwilling to face facts?

Whatever ails us, whatever haunts a once courageous and confident citizenship, we will never overcome our befuddled state of mind without an abiding faith in ourselves and our system.

The moral and political rebirth of America can come only when its people are reformed by a great faith. David would not have gotten far with his stone and a slingshot without faith. He was not afraid of giants.

People, everywhere, are looking for a Moses now, when we may be needing Davids, an army of little men with the courage of their convictions, men without fear and of faith.

There has been a lot of defeatism preached in the land of late. We've been encouraged to be frightened. America's patriotic revival, our return to reason, to common sense and common decency, will not be ushered in by a change of leaders. It will not start in Washington. It will spring from the hearts, souls and minds of an aroused people, proclaiming their faith in the country's past, its present and its future. A people of faith overcome all things, even their own misgivings.

Deferment Tests Set For April 24

Colonel John W. Patton, Jr., State Director of Selective Service for Mississippi, invites the attention of all students to the new release from Major General Lewis B. Hershey, National Director of Selective Service. General Hershey today reminded college students that applications for the April 24 Selective Service College Qualification Test must be postmarked not later than midnight March 10.

The deadline is necessary to allow the administrators of the test, the Educational Testing Service at Princeton, N. J., time to process the applications and assign each applicant to the testing center requested by the student. The test is the closest possible alternative center—also to make administrative arrangements consistent with the number who will take the test. There are more than 1,000 testing centers throughout the United States and its territories.

National Headquarters estimates that upward to 100,000 will make applications to take the April 24 test. This will be the last test given during the current academic year.

Application blanks may be obtained by students from the nearest local board. They do not have to return them to the local board which has jurisdiction over them.

To be eligible to take the Selective Service Qualification Test, an applicant, on the testing date (1) must be a selective service registrant who intends to request deferment as a student; (2) must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time, college course—undergraduate or graduate—leading to a degree; (3) must not previously have taken the test.

National Headquarters said that recently completed statistics reveal that 61.3 per cent of the 19-371 students who took the December 13, 1951 test made a score of 70 or better. Of the approximately 340,000 who took the first four tests, 63 per cent made a score of 70 or better.

The criteria for consideration for deferment as a student at the present time is either a score of 70 or better on the Selective Service College Qualification Test, or class standing among the male members in the upper half of the freshman class, upper two thirds of the sophomore class, or upper three fourths of the junior class. Seniors accepted for admission to a graduate school satisfy the criteria if they are among the upper half of the male members of their senior class, or they make a score of 75 or better.

Students already enrolled in graduate schools may be considered for deferment so long as they remain in good standing.

These criteria are guides for the local boards. The local boards are under no compulsion to follow them, but any local board classification is subject to appeal. The appeal must be filed in writing with the local board within 10 days of the date the local board mails the notice of classification.

General Hershey has urged all eligible students to take the test so they will have scores in their files when the local boards consider their cases to determine whether or not they meet the criteria for deferment as students. He has emphasized many times that the present criteria are variables which may be raised or lowered either to increase or decrease the number of students as the national interest shall require.

General Hershey also has repeatedly stressed that no deferment is an example. A deferment is a delay or postponement," he said, "and in no way cancels the duty of the registrant to meet his obligations."

A score of 70 on the Selective Service Test, General Hershey has pointed out, does not mean a student answered 70 questions correctly, nor does it mean 70 per cent. A score of 70 on the Selective Service Test indicates the same level of ability as a score of 120 on the Army general classification test. Only 16 per cent of the entire population of this country are capable of achieving such a score.

Many students have been confused in differentiating between the I-S and II-S deferments. The II-S deferment is considered on the basis of class standing in the local board and is discretionary on the part of the local board. It may be granted by the local board each successive year, thus enabling students who continue to meet the criteria to complete their education.

The I-S deferment, on the other hand, is provided for by the law. A college student ordered to report for induction while he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course is entitled to this I-S deferment until he finishes his academic year provided he had not had his induction postponed or been deferred as a student prior to June 19, 1951. He may be given but one such deferment and it is incumbent upon him to notify his local board of his status when he receives the order to report for induction.

Home Agents Notes Eggs Are Good Buy Says Agent

By MADGE ALLRED

Eggs are good buys. Two eggs are equal in protein value to a serving of meat and cost much less.

Peak egg production is just around the corner and lower egg prices are predicted for the spring months. As a budget-wise housewife you should plan to relieve the protein food portion of your food budget by the use of more eggs.

Last year every person in the United States ate an average of 406 eggs—an egg-a-day plus. Of course, several things helped bring about this wonderful record: The high price of meat... the grading of eggs... better methods of marketing... and more varied use of eggs in the family menu.

Your best buy in eggs that are carton and labeled. Eggs in an open container in a heated store may be of inferior quality unless you know their age and producer. A carton label should show the size, whether grade A, B or C and shell color. Shell color has no effect on flavor, food value or quality, however. Eggs are found in Mississippi markets in Grades A, B and C.

Proper storage is essential for keeping the high quality of an egg. Just remember these three C's... clean, cool, covered. Eggs should be kept covered and kept refrigerated until used. Studies show that eggs stored in room temperature for three days lose as much quality as those stored in a refrigerator for two weeks.

Eggs are good and good for you.

EGG PIE.
12 hard-cooked eggs
2 quarts thin white sauce
Dumplings
Butter, salt, pepper

Thin white sauce: use 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, to 1 cup of milk.

Dumplings (roll-out kind): Sift 2 cups flour and 1 teaspoon salt together. Cut in 1 tablespoon shortening. Moisten with 3/4 cup of sour milk in which 1/2 teaspoon of soda has been dissolved. Knead dough until smooth and easy to handle. Roll very thin and cut in small squares (about 2 inches).

To make the egg pie, place a layer of sliced hard-cooked eggs in a baking pan. Sprinkle salt and pepper over the eggs. Pour in white sauce to cover. Place layer of dumplings. Bring to boil on top of stove. Repeat placing layer of eggs, sauce and dumplings. Place in oven 450 degrees F. When dumplings are done, cover with top crust made from part of dumpling dough. Roll the dough thin, dot with butter—fold and roll again and dot with butter. Repeat this rolling and dotting with butter a third time and cover pie with dough. Bake in fast oven 450 degrees F. until brown. Remove and spread top crust over with butter. Lift one corner of crust and pour in remainder of white sauce that has been reheated.

EGG AND CHEESE SALAD

LOAF
2 tablespoons gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 1/2 cup mayonnaise
8 hard-cooked eggs, diced
3 cups grated sharp cheese
1 cup diced celery
1 teaspoon onion salt
1/2 cup chopped pimiento
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Cool, add to mayonnaise and mix well. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. ## Good Housekeeping and Your Telephone Saving by good housekeeping is everybody's duty nowadays—so you'll be pleased by the way telephone installers tidy up at the end of a job.

Those left-over bits of wire they gather and save are mostly copper. Bits like these from thousands of jobs add up to an important copper salvage each year—save scarce materials and money.

Your telephone company's good housekeeping begins before a wire or cable is installed. Every job is planned to make the most of "investment" dollars—the money we invest from investors to enable us to extend and improve telephone service.

After telephones, wires and all other necessary equipment are installed, the money to maintain and operate them comes from subscribers' payments for service. This "expense" money is also used with the utmost care so that subscribers always receive the best telephone service for the least money.

TWO KINDS OF FARMS

Everyone expects a wheat farm to yield successive crops year after year. That's the way farming is.

Now people are getting the same idea about forest lands... "tree farms" they're called by forest industries.

That's what forest lands really are, and that's what they are becoming more and more, as forest industries seek to perpetuate this vital resource.

The tree farm pictured here has yielded a harvest, just as the wheat farm is doing. But note the blocks of trees still standing. They will provide seed which will replenish the harvested acres which, before many years, will be producing new crops of trees.

A SOUTHERNER PRESIDENT (?)
On Thursday last Dick Russell, the popular and able junior Senator from Georgia, announced his unconditional entry into the race for the Democratic nomination for President in the approaching November election.

The fact that he made it clear that he was running as a 'National' rather than a 'Southern' candidate has strong implications.

The powerful Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee has been known for sometime to be seriously considering throwing his hat into the proverbial ring. The fact that he has definitely done so indicates that he is in the race to stay. Dick Russell is not the type to enter a Presidential race merely for the self-satisfaction of seeing his name in print. He is no publicity seeker. He is, on the contrary, of a retiring and modest nature. The universal respect that he enjoys in the Congress among his colleagues and official Washington generally has been gained through steady self-sacrificing hard work rather than as a 'headline seeker.'

LEADER OF SOUTHERN BLOC
In fact, he has for the past several years been the recognized leader of the unofficial Southern Bloc in the Senate, which has been responsible for the defeat of the mis-called civil rights program so earnestly advocated by President Truman. Since I have also occupied a position as chairman of a similar bureau unofficial Southern group, I have had ample opportunity to observe these qualities of modest but effective leadership exercised by the distinguished Georgian. In other words he has always preferred to get the job done as a worker behind the scenes rather than to seek publicity for himself.

IMPLICATIONS
The entry of the 54 year old Southern leader into the Presidential race has powerful implications:

1. His declaration, "I am a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, 'Period,'" in a flat declaration of his candidacy regardless of President Truman's intentions.
2. The fact that he is backed by such outstanding Southern leaders as Governor Byrnes of South Carolina and Senators Byrd of Virginia, George of Georgia, and Governor Shivers of Texas with the expected backing of other Southern leaders such as Governors White of Mississippi, Kenyon of Louisiana and former Governor Lancy of Arkansas means that the South will no longer permit itself to be taken for granted in the Democratic Party.

3. Dick Russell's forthright candidacy for President indicates that anything can happen at the Chicago Democratic Convention. The fact he received 263 ballots at the 1948 Democratic Convention on a spontaneous nomination without any previous campaigning exemplifies his strength.

4. Finally, this deliberate well-planned and firmly backed entry of the distinguished Southerner implies that if those Northern Democrats in charge of the Party machinery insist upon the renomination of President Truman or someone else who will back his program in the Chicago Convention, there will no doubt be a stronger dissatisfaction in the South than was witnessed in the last Presidential campaign when 4 Southern states supported the Thurmond-Wright ticket. In fact, there is a distinct possibility that Russell would head up a third party. And while he might be unsuccessful in being elected on such a ticket he could easily carry enough Southern states to throw the Presidential election into the House of Representatives and there be elected. For, in such a case it is unlikely that Republicans would vote for a candidate like President Truman on the one hand and the Southern Representatives would be likely to vote for the Republican nominee. In such a deadlock the South might once again furnish a President of this great nation.
